H&H leveraging domestic market for bonding and welding applications

by AR ADMIN | 28-February-2016 | less than 1 min read

“Innovations in product development by manufacturers for domestic market will drive forth the opportunity for bonding and welding,” shares Anshuman Dash, H&H as he feels that till now there has not been enough push from the buyers to incorporate these concepts. “Bonding and welding is not an easy or cheap paradigm. Investors need to take the risk and the leap because if perfected, the results are strikingly different, both aesthetically and functionally,” he adds.
